

REMARKABLE INDUSTRIAL MISSION SCHOOL IN AFRICAN VILLAGE

Starting a Few Years Ago With Little Capital the School is Self-supporting—Pupils Last Year Built a Town and Furnished Homes for Forty Families—Course Embraces Classes in Carpentry, Chairmaking, Tailoring, Shoemaking and Printing—Work in Mexico That is Far From Dead.

By Southern Missionary News Bureau
Ida Clyde Clarke, Editor

In two Presbyterian stations on the Kasai, Africa there are 9,000 Christians, and people come 300 miles begging to have churches established.

A very remarkable story comes of an industrial mission school in Africa. "The pupils of the school built a town during the year, furnishing homes for forty families," so the account runs.

"The sawmill turned out 100,000 feet of lumber. The tailor class made 1,687 garments, the chair class hundreds of chairs. It is impossible to estimate the good the school is doing in the lives of the people. It is changing their ideas of life.

Instead of a low house without windows and a small hole to crawl in, now in many a house there are doors, windows, beds and chairs. At five out-stations the boys have built chapels and schoolhouses, and hundreds of Africans who before were lazy, indolent and shiftless, have become industrious, thrifty and efficient. Most of the pupils confess Christ before leaving the school.

"The 'Frank James Industrial School' start a few years ago at Elat with little capital. It has been self-supporting. The present worth of the plant is $9,075, five thousand of which represents net profit after the expenses of the school have been paid. The school embraces a carpenter class, tailor class, chair class, shoe class and a printing class.

New Mission School in Mexico

On the 31st of January the new St. Andrew's school for boys was opened in the little village of Zapapan, a suburb of Guadalajara, Mexico. The buildings are as yet incomplete, but enough has been done to enable the work to be carried on effectively. The reception at the opening of school was attended by the mayor of the city and representative people from all the foreign colonies as well as by many native Mexicans. An interesting feature of the day was a visit from the entire commission of Japanese naval officers from the emperor's ship Izumura. The fact that these Japanese officers as well as some of the most distinguished Mexicans of Guadalajara made a special visit to a comparatively small and obscure American mission school seems fraught with significance of the good will existing toward us.

The number of pupils is daily increasing and the work seems to have a most promising future before it. One of the features of the school is farming. All of the boys spend a part of the time in practicing agriculture—the profits of which will go to defray the expenses of the school.

Live Work in Mexico

Mrs. Hallie Garnett Nell writes: "With all the war and with many of our missionaries out of the republic a part of the year, this reducing our working force, we had during 1913 eight baptisms, twelve Sunday Schools with 378 pupils, five Sunday Schools and one boarding school with a total of 240 pupils, and schools having done the full year's work, and the gospel was preached in fifty places. Two native preachers have been ordained, one new church organized and one new day school opened.

"Already in 1914 we have opened another new school with twenty-six pupils, the Taberna schools have opened with sixty enrolled the first day and now in less than a week the enrollment has reached eighty-four. The same schools opened last year with fifteen the first day and the total enrollment for the year reached 80 and 8.

"Tell our friends that mission work in Mexico is not dead yet."

A Great Hospital

Fourteen years ago Dr. Rudolph B. Tensler went to Japan to open a little hospital that had been closed for two years. It was absolutely without equipment except a few broken-down beds and some blankets which were sold for $25. Dr. Tensler says he has always felt sorry for the men who bought them. From this insignificant beginning has come the present St. Luke's Hospital, Tokyo, with its eighty beds, its corps of thirty trained nurses, its staff of ten Japanese physicians, four of them graduates of the Imperial University, and three foreign doctors, besides a dispensary caring for 150 cases each morning. But this equipment is quite inadequate for the work which St. Luke's is asked to do.

Prince Katsura, formerly premier of Japan, and Baron Goto have made a gift of $25,000 to develop St. Luke's into a great international hospital. It is proposed to erect an institution of 150 beds with professors of the Imperial university as its consulting physicians, with a staff of foreign and Japanese doctors.

A hospital such as this will not only be effective in promoting international friendship, but it will directly aid in extending Christian influence in Japan.

Man's Humanity To Man

Only the other day a great steel beam was being brought up a giddy height by a hoisting apparatus. As it passed a girder on which several men were at work, the beam turned just enough to push one of them off. His weight gradually moved down the end girder, to which he clung, and in a few moments he would have been thrown off, when a fellow workman sprang on the other and balancing it, and together they were to the ground.—Harper's Weekly

Railroad Ticket Innovation

There will not be a ticket case installed in any of the 2,000 stations on the Grand Trunk Pacific, Canada's second transcontinental railway, and the usual dog-eared assortment of tickets will not be displayed. In place of this old system the company will use what is to be known as a multiple route ticket which in the aggregate will save 3 1/2 months time of the thousands of ticket agents in the sale of each million of tickets.

By experiments and practical use, it has been demonstrated that the most complicated tourist route ticket can be issued in 15 seconds, which is at the rate of issuing nearly 7,000,000 tickets under the new method to every 1,000,000 tickets of the simplest variety by the method used now. In addition to the great saving of time, increased efficiency is also attained and the chances of missing trains by delay at ticket windows will be almost entirely obliterated. The system will be almost entirely obliterated. The system will be installed at every station on the 11,000 miles of rail of the new transcontinental.

"Sadder day and night the tourist of itching piles. Nothing helped me until I used Doan's Ointment. The result was lasting."—Hou Jiu R. Garrett, Mayor, Girard, Ala.

ST. BERNARD COMMANDERY INSPECTION AND BANQUET

Sir James Keely, of Owensboro, Inspector—Beautiful Banquet by Ladies

St. Bernard Commandery was subjected to annual inspection last night, with Eminent Sir Knight James Kelly, of Owensboro, who is an officer of the Kentucky Grann Commandery, making the inspection. The degree work was conferred by Eminent Commander W. L. Phillips assisted by the officers of the commandery, and with good attendance.

An elaborate and delightful banquet, beautifully and artistically served, was prepared and served by ladies of St. Bernard Sir Knights "whose fame has spread both far and wide" for expert skill and artistic taste in these matters that come so close to the hearts of all men and "more especially" to these hearts of ours.

The Masonic quarters have recently been refitted and beautified, and now being considered fit for the entertainment of the ladies, it is rumored that perhaps there may be soon some social affairs there at which these faithful ladies may in turn be entertained. The commandery is awake and thriving.

SOIL FERTILITY WITHOUT STOCK

Grain Growing Exponents Hold Farmer Can Be Independent of Manure

ROTATION SYSTEM OUTLINED

When Crop Residues Are Returned To Land Promptly and Legumes Are Shared With Nature in Fair Proportion, Productivity Can Be Maintained More Easily Than By Stock Raising.

(E. J. Kinney, Assistant Agronomist, Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.)

Generally the most profitable type of farming for Kentucky is one in which part of the farm crops are sold for cash and part fed to stock. Wheat and tobacco are the ordinary cash crops, while corn, hay, and oats are the crops fed. By feeding these products, the farmer has usually been able to secure a little better profit than if he sold them for cash.

With the high prices which corn and hay have been bringing during the last few years, however, the profits from feeding stock have been rather small. In some cases, the only gain has been in the value of the manure secured. Perhaps the belief that the fertility of the soil can not be maintained without the use of animal manure is the only reason that many farmers feed stock.

It is very true that a large percentage of the farm lands of Kentucky can not be profitably farmed without live stock. Such is the case with practically all hilly lands. Increased profits from these lands will come only when more of the area is kept in grass and more acres cultivated. The prevention of erosion when hill lands are cultivated is nearly impossible, and erosion means such rapid loss of plant food that fertility can not be profitably maintained.

Fertility Without Stock.

Animal manures always have played an important part in maintaining productivity, and this has led to the belief held by many farmers that fertility can not be maintained without them. This brings up the question as to whether this is true or not. Must the farmer feed stock for the sake of the manure, even if he makes no profit thereon, or can he devise a system of farming where fertility can be maintained without animal manures? It can be done, there are doubtless many men who would keep little stock, even if they could not realize quite as much profit from their farms. Stock raising requires more capital than grain farming, not only because of the value of the stock, but because more buildings and fences are required. In addition, some men find no pleasure in raising stock and the enforced confinement to the farm, that the care of stock necessitates, is irksome and unpleasant to them. Before trying to answer these questions it will be well to consider briefly some of the principles of soil fertility in order to learn what the chief functions of manure are, so we can decide as to its necessity in the maintenance of fertility.

Essentials of Good Soil.

Soils originally fertile become unproductive usually because nitrogen, phosphorus, calcium, potassium or organic matter become deficient. The nitrogen of the soil is practically all contained in the organic matter, and a deficiency of organic matter usually accompanies a deficiency of nitrogen. Organic matter furnishes nitrogen, improves the physical condition of soils, gives them greater water-holding capacity, and causes other elements of plant food to become available more rapidly. It is perhaps the most important constituent of every fertile soil. The supply can be maintained only by returning part of the plant growth to the soil, either as animal manure or in other forms.

Potassium is a mineral element, and nearly all Kentucky soils contain enough for all crop requirements. Where organic matter is deficient, potassium may not become available rapidly enough for plant use. The remedy is to increase the amount of organic matter.

Phosphorous and Calcium.

Phosphorous is another mineral element. In the Blue-grass section the soils contain sufficient for present plant requirements, and probably enough to last for many years. All the lands of the state, with the exception of this area, contain relatively small amounts of this element, so that a few crops reduce the supply to a point where plants can not secure enough for their needs. To maintain a sufficient supply it is necessary to use commercial phosphorous in some form, for it is evident that the manure produced on any farm can not maintain the supply on land naturally deficient in this element.

Calcium is also a mineral element of plant food. Soils seldom lack sufficient for this purpose, but in addition to its function as plant food, calcium carbonate or limestone, a calcium compound, is capable of neutralizing acids which form in the soil. When a soil becomes acid clover and other legumes fail to grow well, if at all. Legume crops are absolutely necessary in any system of farming to maintain the nitrogen supply. There are not many soils in the state where the addition of limestone would not prove beneficial. Either ground limestone or lime may be used. The need for limestone can not be supplied by manure.

Held To Be Easier Way.

We may conclude from the above statements that most of the benefit from animal manures is due to the fact that they supply humus and nitrogen, and that if an efficient method of supplying these in some other way could be found, we could maintain fertility without manure.

If in grain farming all crop residues, such as straw, cornstalks, etc., are returned to the land, we will add nearly as much organic matter as if all crops were fed and the manure returned. This is due to the fact that over one-half the organic matter of feeds is destroyed by the animal body. If in addition to crop residue we can turn under green crops of some kind occasionally, we maintain humus without manure.

The nitrogen supply is with more difficulty maintained, but by growing the legume crops of the rotation primarily for their seeds, and by growing legume catch-crops as often as possible, we can be independent of manure even to supply nitrogen. Dr. Hopkins, of the University of Illinois, who was the first to point out the possibilities of grain farming, says that fertility is more easily maintained in grain farming than where stock is kept.

Systems of Rotation.

The following systems of rotation are a few of many which can be adapted to the use of the grain farmer. First year wheat with clover sown in wheat. Second year, corn or tobacco, with cowpeas sown between rows at last cultivation. Third year, wheat or oats with clover. Fourth year, clover. The first crop of clover is to be cut and left on the ground, and the second crop cut for seed.

First year, corn or tobacco; second year, soy beans or cowpeas; third year wheat; fourth year, clover. Only the seeds of the clover, peas, or beans are to be sold. A two-year rotation of first-year wheat and second-year clover can be followed and the clover crop made into hay. Continuous growing of alfalfa may be practiced and the soil will increase in humus and nitrogen content. Or, if desired, clover may be grown continuously by reseeded after the first crop is removed.

The farmer following grain farming should remember that rotation with legumes will not maintain the nitrogen supply if the legume crops are all sold. At least part of the growth must be plowed under, as provided for in the above rotation systems. Also that crop residues must be promptly returned to the land and carefully distributed. By keeping in mind these most important facts he should have no difficulty in maintaining fertility, if no stock except the work animals is kept.

WINTER CHURNING

(T. R. Bryant, Superintendent Agricultural Extension, Kentucky Experiment Station.)

A few common difficulties that many are perhaps experiencing in churning at this season may make the following suggestions of interest.

Under ordinary farm conditions the cream is saved from several milkings and this state of affairs must be handled very carefully, not to bring on such difficulties as bad flavor in the butter, difficult churning, etc. In the first place it is essential that scrupulous cleanliness of utensils, etc., be had. It is desirable that the bacterial growth in the cream should not proceed to any considerable extent until the ripening process to which the accumulated mass as a whole should be subjected. In the second place keep the mass sweet until ripening time a cool place should be provided. Where ice is not abundant this can best be accomplished by putting the cream in a tall narrow can and immersing in cold water. The cream can be ripened by being kept at a temperature of about 58 degrees for 8 or 10 hours. During this period the cream should be stirred frequently.

Sometimes cream foams when we feel that the butter should be coming. This is almost exasperating at times. The cause is probably one of the following three: First, the cream may be too thin. The suspended fat globules are too widely scattered to be easily struck together and make to stick. The cream should contain from 25 to 30 per cent of butter fat, which, by the way, is much thicker than the average farm cream. Second, the cream may be too cold. In winter the cream should ordinarily be about 60 to 62 degrees to get the best results. Higher temperatures are liable to make the butter too oily.

Buttermaking without a dairy thermometer is the worst sort of guesswork. This simple instrument can be had for 25 cents at almost any drug store.

Third, butter fat is composed of several different fats, varying in degrees of hardness. A liberal supply of green or succulent feed tends to increase the proportion of softer fats, but when the cow is given only dry feeds, the reverse is true. Succulent food may best be provided in silage, root crops or winter pastures, such as rye, etc.

The right kind of cream, churned at the right temperature, should yield the butter in 30 to 40 minutes. Butter churned in a shorter time is liable to have been over warmed, too harshly churned or by other means rendered inferior. Cream should be churned in a hollow churn, i. e., devoid of dashers, and should not be over half filled.

A chair of "logging engineering" has queer sound, but out in Washington the lumbermen insist that they need it in the state university in their business. There are possibly in some eastern colleges professorships more impressively titled that are not of as much practical value.

Little Ethel was only four years old, and her mother was spending the day with a friend who had corn boiled on the cob on the table when dinner was served. Little Ethel had never eaten corn cooked this way before, but was very fond of it, and when she had carefully eaten every grain of corn from the cob, she passed the cob to the waiter and said, "Please man put some on a stick."

Worried Hare.

A critic of Wells' novel, "Marriage," finds in the confounding of the hero "the desire to have it all ways; to possess a woman who shall have all the charm and the caprice of the eternal feminine; who shall, by the grossness of her desires and the pettiness of conversation, give him an agreeable sense of superiority, and yet shall, to order, acquire deep spiritual insight when her husband feels he needs it."

A Message To Women

Those of Middle Age Especially.

When you have found no remedy for the horrors that oppress you during change of life, when through the long hours of the day it seems as though your back would break; when your head aches constantly, you are nervous, depressed and suffer from those dreadful bearing down pains, don't forget that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the safest and surest remedy, and has carried hundreds of women safely through this critical period.

Read what these three women say:

From Mrs. Hornung, Buffalo, N. Y.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—"I am writing to let you know how much your medicine has done for me. I failed terribly during the last winter and summer and every one remarked about my appearance. I suffered from a female trouble and always had pains in my back, no appetite and at times was very weak."

"I was visiting at a friend's house one day and she thought I needed Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and have gained eight pounds, have a good appetite and am feeling better every day. Everybody is asking me what I am doing and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. You may publish this letter if you wish and I hope others who have the same complaint will see it and get health from your medicine as I did."—Mrs. A. HORNUNG, 91 Stanton St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Was A Blessing To This Woman.

So. Richmond, Va.—"I was troubled with a bearing down pain and a female weakness and could not stand long on my feet. Of all the medicines I took nothing helped me like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now regular and am getting along fine. I cannot praise the Compound too much. It has been a blessing to me and I hope it will be to other women."—Mrs. D. TYLEN, 23 West Clepton St., South Richmond, Va.

Pains in Side, Could Hardly Stand.

Long, Wis.—"I was in a bad condition, suffering from a female trouble, and I had such pains in my sides I could hardly move. Before I had taken the whole of one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt better, and now I am well and can do a good day's work. I tell you what your medicine has done for me."—Mrs. John THOMAS, 1111, Wisconsin.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Speaking of Fire Insurance

Speaking of fire insurance and fires, and the subject is very much in the minds of the people of stricken Kentucky just now, this is a good time to emphasize the great care all property owners ought always to exercise to prevent fires, but particularly at this time when we are entirely upon a period that threatens to presently find much valuable property in Kentucky with little or no insurance protection. It is a potent fact throughout the United States that we, as a nation, have not learned the lesson of this necessity of preventing great fire waste; one sort of waste that is a total destruction of values whether covered by insurance or not. Everybody ought now to begin taking the most careful precautions against fire and if this lesson is learned, through the fear of loss without any or without adequate insurance, the present disturbed, distressing conditions in Kentucky may be said to be not wholly without some compensating features. In fact the carelessness of many Kentuckians, in faulty building constructions, lack of fire prevention and fire fighting facilities, etc., may have to be "purified as by fire." Both fear and fire are unhappy visitants. Perhaps the fear of fire at a time when great property values will be without insurance unless the Green-Glenn insurance law is in some manner set aside, may awaken people of Kentucky to practice effective measures of fire prevention and so inaugurate a positive force for future betterment both in the matter of lessening our fire waste and lowering the rates for fire insurance, which are always governed by the fire waste. It is proposed by the fire marshal of the state of New York that the penal law be amended so that criminal carelessness or culpable negligence resulting in loss of life or damage to property from fire be another degree of arson or a misdemeanor. He insists that persons responsible for fires should be punished. In Germany the property owner on whose premises a fire occurs is required to pay the cost of the fire department services and also a fine if it be found that he is responsible through any negligence. This is a good time for each of us everywhere to recognize his or her personal responsibility to our own communities, though we have no laws like Germany enforce to compel proper care in these matters.

Expert estimates say that 85 per-cent of all the fire insurance written in the United States is carried by stock insurance companies—the kind of companies that have been forced to suspend business in Kentucky as a result of the provisions proposed under the Green Glenn insurance law.

MOTHER! IS CHILD'S

STOMACH SOUR, SICK?

If Tongue is coated or if cross feverish, constipated give "California Syrup of Figs."

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love the harmless "fruit laxative," and mother can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown ups plainly on the bottle. Remember their are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

HOME MIXING OF FERTILIZERS

Process Simple and It Can Be Done Advantageously In Cases

FARMERS SAVE IN GROUPS

One First Must Understand Needs of Soil To Be Treated and Requirements of Crop To Be Grown—Results Often Depend on Condition of Components.

(Geo. Roberts, Agronomist, Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.)

The question is frequently asked of the Experiment Station, can fertilizers be properly mixed at home, and if so, what advantage is to be gained by home mixing?

In answer to the first part of the question, there is no doubt that fertilizers may be well mixed at home, provided the materials used are obtained in good mechanical condition. Most of them come in good condition, such as bone meal, tankage, acid phosphate, and dried blood. Some of them may come in a hard lumpy condition, such as sulfate of potash, muriate of potash and nitrate of soda. These latter materials could be bought under specifications requiring good mechanical condition, which could be produced by regrinding, if necessary.

There are small machines now made for grinding and mixing fertilizers, some small enough to be operated by hand, when only mixing is to be done. Home mixing can be more economically done by a group of farmers buying together their materials in carload lots direct from the producer or wholesale dealer, and using a small power mixer. Yet an individual may make large savings by mixing on a floor with a shovel.

Process is Simple.

There is no difficulty in thoroughly mixing fertilizers with a shovel, as has been repeatedly shown. Concrete requires more thorough mixing than fertilizers and is more difficult to mix. Yet most of it is done with shovels.

After having decided upon the formula to be used, the process is very simple. A tight floor of convenient size is required. Put down the bulk of material first in a layer of uniform thickness, following with the others in the order of their bulk. Begin at one end of the pile and shovel the materials back, turning and mixing each shovelful as much as possible. Repeat the operation until an even mixture is secured.

No filler need be used, and one need not worry about the percentage formula. The proper basis for making a formula is to determine how much nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash are desired per acre, and to use enough materials to give these amounts. The Experiment Station will furnish literature giving the composition of the various fertilizing materials.

Soil Must Be Studied.

For example, suppose a farmer wishes to use a fertilizer which would supply the full amount of the above-named elements contained in 1,000 pounds of tobacco, including the whole plant, namely, 32 pounds of nitrogen, 8 pounds of phosphoric acid and 44 pounds of potash. This would require 50 pounds of 16 per cent acid phosphate.

206 pounds nitrate of soda, or 275 pounds of dried blood.
30 pounds of sulfate of potash.
This is used merely for illustrative purposes, as one would hardly use such a formula in a soil deficient in phosphorus, as most Kentucky soils are except in the Bluegrass region. When the soil is deficient in phosphorus a larger amount of the acid phosphate should be used in such a mixture, any not less than 200 pounds. In the central Bluegrass region the acid phosphate may well be entirely dispensed with. This shows the necessity for understanding one's soil as well as the crop he wishes to grow.

Question of Saving.

As to the second part of the question, What advantage is to be gained by home mixing? the answer is, none, if the farmer can get the kind of mixture he wants at a reasonable price, for manufacturers with large, well equipped plants can mix fertilizers at minimum expense. The cost of mixing is a small item, being less than $1 per ton. But do they furnish mixed fertilizers as cheaply as the farmer can mix them for himself? In 1909 the writer made an extended investigation of the selling price of fertilizers of different grades offered on Kentucky retail markets. The most common fertilizer on the market was what is called 2-8-2 formula, which means 1.65 per cent of nitrogen (which is equivalent to 2 per cent ammonia), 8 per cent of phosphoric acid and 2 per cent of potash. The average selling price of this fertilizer at the time of the investigation was $26.81 per ton. But it was found selling as high as $20 per ton.

The following amount of materials would be required to furnish the plant a ton of this composition:

1,130 lbs. of 14 per cent acid phosphate worth	$ 8.00
215 lbs. of nitrate of soda	6.45
84 lbs. of sulfate of potash worth	2.30

1,442 lbs. of materials worth.....$16.75

These prices are based upon $14 per ton for 14 per cent acid phosphate, $60 per ton for nitrate of soda, and $55 for sulfate of potash, which are retail prices for these materials, but they may be bought at lower rates in larger quantities from wholesale dealers or manufacturers.

Weight Not Criterion.

What worries some farmers is that the materials used do not weigh a ton. This is nothing to worry about. They contain the same amount of plant food as the ton of 2-8-2 mixture, and bags, freight and hauling are saved on 568 pounds in a ton, a saving on these items of 28 per cent.

Another very interesting study was the selling price of mixtures of acid phosphate and potash. These are mixtures of two very simple materials, acid phosphate and sulfate or muriate of potash.

It was found that the average composition of these mixtures was 10 per cent of available phosphoric acid and 2.83 per cent of potash, and that the average selling price was $22.30 per ton.

1,430 pounds of 14 per cent acid phosphate and 120 pounds of sulfate of potash would give the amount of phosphoric acid and potash in a ton of the average composition named, and could be purchased for about $13.30. The cost of mixing should certainly not be more than $1.00 per ton.

Limestone Good Filler.

If a filler is desired, limestone ground to pass a sieve of ten meshes to the inch may be used and it will have a beneficial effect on the availability of the acid phosphate used in the mixture, but there is little danger of first-class materials getting in poor mechanical condition after being mixed.

The only object in mixing fertilizers is to save time in application. The writer's opinion is that mixed fertilizers should be used only in a limited way for the purpose of "stimulating" the crop, or giving it a good "start." If the soil is deficient in phosphorus large quantities of phosphate of some form should be used, broadcast and well worked into the soil. The same statement may be made for potash. Nitrogen should be obtained by the growing of legumes. Nitrogen used in mixed fertilizers with fall sown crops is of little effect. It is better to use some soluble form of nitrogen, such as nitrate of soda or sulfate of ammonia, as a top dressing, when spring growth begins.

Readers are referred to Bulletin No. 140 of the Kentucky Experiment Station. Literature on soil fertility will be furnished upon application to the Station.

POTATO PLANTING TIME

(T. R. Bryant, Superintendent Agricultural Extension, Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.)

It will soon be time to plant potatoes. Some say that Irish potatoes should be planted on St. Patrick's day, but whether we are able to get them in that early or not it would be well to look into the matter of good seed at once. This is especially important this season on account of the great prevalence of potato diseases that infected Kentucky last summer.

Seed should have been selected at digging time and crated during the winter, but if you did not do this and do not intend to buy seed, go over those on hand, selecting only the smooth, firm, sound tubers of good shape, discarding those that show signs of rot or that have been very near an affected tuber. Do not dare to plant potatoes in ground that was in potatoes last season and that developed any kind of disease, as it is almost sure to recur.

There is probably little difference in merits between the northern grown seed and the home grown second crop. A good plan is to buy seed of either of these kinds every other year and save seed from this crop for the following year. A better plan is to grow a second crop for seed each year.

KEEP RATS AND MICE OUT OF CORN CRIBS

(E. J. Kinney, Assistant Agronomist, Kentucky Experiment Station.)

It would be very interesting to know the actual number of bushels of corn that are destroyed by rats and mice in Kentucky each year. Every farmer who keeps corn in cribs, however, knows that the loss is very heavy.

Undoubtedly the most effective cribs are the all metal cribs, which are manufactured by several firms in the United States. There is no possible chance with these cribs of rats or mice gaining an entrance unless the door has been accidentally left open. These cribs are very desirable but quite expensive. The common method of making cribs rat and mouse proof and one which is followed by careful farmers, is to elevate the crib on posts so that the rodents will have difficulty in obtaining a foothold to gnaw through the crib floor. These posts may be of wood, or ordinary sewer pipe filled with concrete. These concrete filled pipes should be rested on concrete foundations with the flange end down.

FOREST NOTES

The Canadian forestry association, which recently met in Ottawa, has selected Halifax, Nova Scotia, for its next annual meeting place.

The stringent requirement of the forest service that all sheep be dipped before entering the national forests has practically eradicated scabies on those areas.

The lumbermen of Maine in 1900 originated in this country the use of mountain lookout towers with telephone connection for the prompt location and suppression of forest fires.

A California firm is selling eucalyptus charcoal at $24 a ton, as against $20 a ton for oak charcoal. Since most of the California grown eucalypts do not make good lumber, uses for the products of the tree are being sought.

Fifteen small sawmills are cutting timber from the Powell national forest in southern Utah, more than 100 miles from the nearest railroad. They are run by settlers during time that can be spared from the crops, and supply local needs since there is no opportunity to ship timber in or out.

Retired Georgia Planter's Advice to Kidney Sufferers

Regarding the wonderful curative merit of your Swamp-Root, I can not say too much. After suffering severely for three years or more with severe pains caused by weak kidneys, I was finally induced to try Swamp-Root through a testimonial I read in one of the newspapers. I was in such a condition that I was obliged to arise from my bed six or eight times every night. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle and before it was used I felt so much relief that I purchased a one-dollar bottle and by the time this was taken the old pains had left my back and I could sleep the whole night through. I am a retired planter 70 years of age, and owing to Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, I am in the best of health and feel like a boy. I am always glad to recommend Swamp-Root to those who are in need of it.

Sincerely yours,
C. E. ISSERY,
Bowersville, Ga.

Personally appeared before me, this 5th of September, 1909, C. E. Issery, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

T. H. McLANE,
Notary Public.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will do for You

Send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample size bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling all about the kidneys and bladder. When writing be sure and mention the Binghamton Semi-Weekly Bee. Regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

Real Friend.

There is one friend who will never fail you while you have hands to move and a brain to plan. In your dreariest hours she will be your sweet refuge, and in times of prosperity she will guard you from the pride which goeth before a fall. She will bring you long nights of restful sleep at the end of your busy days and when other friends grow careless or disdainful she will absorb you more and more. Her name is Work, and neither the highest nor the lowest can be long for long without her.

Stubborn, Annoying Coughs Cured.

"My husband had a cough for fifteen years and my son for 8 years. Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured them, for which I am most thankful," writes Mrs. David Moor, of Saginaw, Ala. What Dr. King's New Discovery did for these men, it will do for you. Dr. King's New Discovery should be in every home. Stops hacking coughs, relieves a gripe and all throat and lung ailments. Money back if it fails. All druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. H. E. Bucklin & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

Asbestos.

Asbestos is a mineral of a fibrous character, the fibers being easily separated, elastic, flexible, and of a whitish-gray color. It is composed chiefly of silica, lime, magnesia, and oxide of iron. The ancients converted it into a kind of cloth, in which they wrapped the bodies of their dead, while preparing them for the funeral pile; the cloth being indestructible by fire, enabled them to preserve the ashes. Asbestos is found more abundantly in Corsica than in any other locality.

Spring Blood and System Cleaner

During the winter months impurities accumulate, your blood becomes impure and thick, your kidneys, liver and bowels fail to work, causing so-called "Spring Fever." You feel tired, weak and lazy. Electric Bitters—the spring tonic and system cleanser—is what you need. They stimulate the kidneys, liver and bowels to healthy action, expel blood impurities and restore your health, strength and ambition. Electric Bitters make you feel like new. Start a four week's treatment—it will put you in fine shape for your spring work. Guaranteed. All druggists, 50c and $1.00. H. E. Bucklin & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

Worth Knowing.

Never throw away pieces of lemon after they have been squeezed with the lemon squeezer, for they come in handy for removing stains from the hands and elsewhere. Dipped into salt they will scour copper kettles nicely and remove stains from brasswork. Lemon like this will take stains, dirt and odor from pans and kettles as nothing else will. The odors of fish and onions can thus be easily removed.

The Forty Year Test

An article must have exceptional merit to survive for a period of forty years. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was first offered to the public in 1872. From a small beginning it has grown in favor and popularity until it has attained a world-wide reputation. You will find nothing better for a cough or cold. Try it and you will understand why it is a favorite after a period of more than forty years. It not only gives relief—it cures. For sale by all Dealers.

To Clean a Gas Range.

The loose parts of a gas range frequently become so greasy and dirty that they can scarcely be cleaned. Place these parts on the coals in the furnace when the fire is low and they will quickly burn them quite clean without injury.

Best Family Laxative

Beware of constipation. Use Dr. King's New Life Pills and keep well. Mrs. Chas. E. Smith, of West Franklin, Me., calls them "Our family laxative." Nothing better for adults or aged. Get them today—25c. All druggists or by mail. H. E. Bucklin & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

Practical Ventilating Hint.

The house should be ventilated in winter as well as in summer if the family is to be kept in good health. Bedrooms, especially, should be provided with a free circulation of fresh air. One way to get fresh air in a bedroom without having a draft is to tack strips of cheesecloth across the top and the bottom of the window so that when it is opened in both places the fresh air will enter the room and yet, should there be a strong wind, its force will be broken by the cloth.

The Mothers' Favorite

A cough medicine for children should be harmless. It should be pleasant to take. It should be effective. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is all of this and is the mothers' favorite everywhere. For sale by all Dealers.

Until the Plumber Arrives.

While waiting for the arrival of a plumber, when the water pipes have sprung a leak, the housewife may do a little repairing herself. The water should be turned off and a solder made by mixing some whiting with common yellow soap and just enough water to form a thick paste. Apply this mixture to the leak and in a little while the water may be turned on very slowly. This solder may last a day or longer.

Kickapoo Worm Killer is what your child needs; it expels the worms, the cause of the child's unhealthy condition. For the removal of seat, stomach and pit worms. Kickapoo Worm Killer gives sure relief. Its laxative effect adds tone to the general system. Supplied as a candy confection—children like it. Safe and sure relief. Guaranteed. Buy a box today. New Berry in Demand

The loganberry, a hybrid of the blackberry and raspberry, is said to make the finest of jellies, jams and pies. Introduced a few years ago in the west, its popularity has been steadily increasing, and the demand now outruns the supply. Western Oregon and Washington are the greatest producers of the new berry.

Chronic Stomach Trouble Cured

There is nothing more discouraging than a chronic disorder of the stomach. It is not surprising that many suffer for years with such an ailment when a permanent cure is within their reach and may be had for a trifle. "About one year ago," says P. H. Beck, of Wakelee, Mich. "I bought a package of Chamberlain's Tablets, and since using them I have felt perfectly well. I had previously used any number of different medicines, but none of them were of any lasting benefit. For sale by all Dealers.

True to Nature.

The tota in a primary class in sen- training were imitating anything they choose. When it was Hazel's turn, she stepped into the center of the room and wriggled her body from side to side. No one could guess what she was impersonating, so she was asked to explain. "Why," she said, "I was a little dog wagging its tail."

A healthy man is a king in his own right; an unhealthy man an unhappy slave. For impure blood and sluggish liver, use Burdock Blood Bitters. On the market 25 years. 50c and $1.00.

Brevity in Correspondence.

For brevity nothing can beat the correspondence between Victor Hugo and his publisher on the issue of "Les Misérables." Very busy but anxious to know how the book was selling, Hugo sent the publisher a card marked simply "H." The reply came back "H."

Why Snow is Warm.
Snow is warm by virtue of its light and woolly texture. But it is also warm on account of its whiteness. Had snow been black it would have absorbed the heat of the sun and melted quickly. Instead, it reflects heat, and the reflected heat falls upon bodies above the snow, while the warmth of the earth is preserved beneath.

Simple Headache Remedy.

A nervous headache may frequently be cured by several slices of lemon in a cup of strong tea and a billous headache is almost invariably put to rest by a tablespoonful of lemon juice in a cup of black coffee.

INDIGESTION OVERCOME

Overcome by Simple Remedy.

Hurried and careless habits of eating, irregular meals and foods that do not harmonize, tend to weaken the digestive organs and result in different forms of stomach trouble.

If you are one of the unfortunates who have drifted into this condition, eat simple foods only, slowly, regularly and take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic.

Mrs. H. J. Smith, Thomasville, Ga., says: "I suffered from a stomach trouble, was tired, worn out and nervous. A friend advised me to take Vinol. My stomach trouble soon disappeared and now I eat heartily and have a perfect digestion and I wish every tired, weak woman could have Vinol, for I never spent any money in my life that did me so much good."

The recovery of Mrs. Smith was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cod's livers—aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol. We will return the purchase money every time Vinol fails to benefit.
